

GRAD SCHOOL 101

A Toolbox for Building a Successful Future as a Graduate Student in the Sciences

TUESDAY NOVEMBER 24TH 5PM

STUDENTS ACTIVITES CENTER

BALLROOM B

This event is for undergraduate students majoring in science that are considering graduate school. Get the best guidance from university leadership, faculty that direct graduate programs and mentor students as well as current graduate students on the following topics:

- What is Graduate School?
- What can I be with a Ph.D.?
- How do I build a competitive application for Grad School?
- What is the Life of a Graduate Student?

SPONSORED BY

The Center for Inclusive Education

In collaboration with

STEM SMART
College of Engineering and Applied Sciences
URECA/UAA
EOP/AIM
WISE
The Career Center
The Graduate School

SPEAKERS

Dr. Lawrence B. Martin, Dean of the Graduate School

Dr. Alfreda S. James of the Career Center

Ms. Nina Maung, Director of Graduate Student Diversity

Dr. Peter Gergen, Professor of Biochemistry

Ms. Alexandra Valdes, Ph.D. Candidate in the School of Marine and Atmospheric Sciences

*Plus, numerous other faculty and graduate students will be available during the post presentation networking session to answer your questions!!!

RSVP REQUIRED FOR ATTENDANCE

Refreshments will be served

RSVP INSTRUCTIONS:

RSVP BEFORE NOVEMBER 18, BY EMAIL TO "CIE_GRADUATESCHOOL@STONYBROOK.EDU"
SUBJECT LINE: GRADSCHOOL 101 RSVP
INCLUDE YOUR FULL NAME, MAJOR, EMAIL ADDRESS AND LIST ALL PROGRAM AFFILIATIONS.